Want To Enjoy Family and Friends
This Thanksgiving, But Don't Want To Be The Chief Cook And Bottle Washer?

Camp Hebron offers a lovely Thanksgiving buffet so you can skip the hassles of planning, shopping, decorating, preparing, and cleaning up afterward in addition to having leftovers for a week! What more could you ask? When you are at Camp Hebron, you connect with God, nature and one another - truly an environment of thanksgiving.

Contact Camp Hebron at 717 896 3441 or go to their website at www.camphebron.org for more information or to make reservations. Reserve a whole table for all of your guests to enjoy a delicious meal so all of you can relax and fellowship. Bring the family, in-laws, friends or neighbors, or be seated with other persons with which you can rejoice in thanksgiving. You will probably see many other friends there with their family and friends too - a delightful way to spend Thanksgiving.

It Survived the High Seas!

The shipping container sent by tech4Tanzania arrived safe and sound and has been off-loaded at the port in Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania. Praise be to God! As soon as it clears customs and taxes, it will be trucked to Bishop Mwaipopo's (Eilezer Mwaipopo's father) Diocese for distribution to a number of hospitals, schools and an orphanage. Thanks again to all Slate Hillers who played a part in planning, collecting, loading, etc. this shipment to bring relief for many needs.

ewing Comfort and Love

Have you ever wondered what the women's sewing group does with the funds they raise from their bake sales? Since the beginning of the year, we have donated 22 adult sized comforters to Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) and 33 baby sized comforters to local Christian pregnancy centers. Gene and I have the privilege of dropping off the baby comforters and hearing the appreciation from the volunteers of how much their young women appreciate a warm, soft comforter for their newborn.

The funds we receive are used to purchase fabric and other supplies to make comforters and school kit bags. Each comforter has three layers, the top layer is pieced from brightly colored squares of fabric, the middle layer contains batting which provides warmth, and the bottom layer is usually a single piece of fabric and is referred to as the backing. These three layers are knotted (tied) together with thread and then a binding is sewn around the edge to finish the comforter. We hope to display the comforters periodically and have a prayer of blessing upon them prior to shipping them to the Material Resource Center for global distribution.

Thank you for your generosity during our bake sales and for donations through the offering envelope system which allows us to continue this ministry. While we cannot thank each of you personally, we are grateful for each and every donation. We try to be good stewards of the funds we receive by purchasing items on sale, using coupons, and by using non-traditional "fabric sources" such as gently used cotton or flannel sheets, pillowcases, or clothing which can be repurposed into fabric squares or backing.

As you can see, many steps are involved in creating one comforter and many hands are involved in the process from start to finish - cutting squares, sewing the squares together, ironing seams, and knotting the layers together. Not only do we enjoy making the comforters and school kit bags, but we also enjoy the fellowship of one another! We are changing our sewing night to the second Wednesday evening of the month following the WNO meal. Ladies, you are invited to join us on the designated night or stop in to see what we are all about.

Update for November

Classes are going well although the fall semester break was welcome since it's getting busier every day. As the semester progresses, due dates for more papers and projects are getting closer. In looking ahead, registration for the spring 2018 semester is fast approaching so my advisor and I will soon be getting together to plan for the classes that I need to take.

I continue to work for the Student Computer Services Center, although we are not as busy as we were at the beginning of the semester. Fewer students show up now for help since they are busier with classwork.

Ken Eshleman and Cindy Lehman still provide transportation for me most of the week. I am grateful because it gives me more time to study than if I had to use the college shuttle bus and public transportation.

Once again, I extend many thanks to all at Slate Hill who are living their faith by assisting with my tuition. It is deeply appreciated. I am grateful for the opportunity to attend college in America and hope to obtain a degree here. It will be invaluable when I return to my country and, I trust it will ultimately be a blessing to them too.

God's blessings,
Eliezer Mwankenja

GOOD THINGS COME TO THOSE WHO WAIT IN LINE

It's been three years since the residents of Cumberland Vista attended a Hershey Bears ice hockey game. Previously, a generous (non-Slate Hill) donor provided tickets to enable all residents, along with a volunteer buddy, to attend games between 2012-2014. However tickets could not be secured for the past two years since the donor no longer had a connection to the Bears. But, after the fiftieth time or so of Margie (a resident at Cumberland Vista) asking Ulli Klemm when they would go to a Bears' game again, he took the initiative to see if the tickets could be secured via a different route.

Earlier this fall, Ulli asked Jim Roberts, the director of C.R.O.S.S. (the parent organization of Cumberland Vista), to contact the Bears seeking consideration for ticket donations. No response has been received yet. Meanwhile, a coworker of Ulli's informed him of a limited time special-deal the Bears were offering. For each ticket purchased before midnight on October 9th, a second ticket would cost only 80 cents! However, each customer could only purchase a total of four tickets. Ulli and Theda arranged to pick up three residents from Cumberland Vista (Theresa, Lonie and Chris) to make the trip to purchase 20 tickets before the offer expired. When Theresa stepped to the box office counter, she repeated the phrase Ulli prompted her to say to the teller, "We want to make a deal!". Then Ulli explained that the group needed 20 tickets close to each other. One by one each resident and Ulli purchased the allotted four tickets.

Before Theda could purchase the last four tickets, a customer at a neighboring ticket window called to us. "Excuse me. What game is your group going to see? I have four free tickets." Towering over us with a gentle disposition and a smile, John P. had been observing the Cumberland Vista residents patiently waiting in line to buy their tickets. Ulli replied they were buying tickets for the November 12th game. John said, "I want you to have my four free tickets. My sister lived in a group home and it would be my pleasure to give these to you." We were overwhelmed with gratitude and thanked John with warm handshakes, somewhat surprised by the grace that had just been visited upon us.

"Sometimes God uses others to bless His children," Ulli told Theresa, Lonie and Chris as they headed back to the car. "That was very nice of that man," said Theresa. "Indeed it was," said Ulli in reply. "We're going to a Bears game!" exclaimed Chris as we headed out of the box office doors.

Indeed, good things come to those who wait in line and because of generous persons like John P.

Pumpkin Painting At Its Best!

On Friday, October 6th, artists were in full swing at the Cumberland Vista Group Home for adults with special needs. Slate Hill volunteers and Messiah students coached the residents as they painted pumpkins. Sara Mayes and Terri Diehl also joined the fun.

Jim Burkholder began the evening leading several enthusiastic songs as only Jim can do. Ulli led a modified skit, in keeping with the season, based on Genesis 3. Instead of Lucifer being portrayed as a serpent, Ulli portrayed him as a wicked witch. The wicked witch played trick-or-treat with unsuspecting Adam and Eve, enticing them with an apple. The rest is history.

Residents painted their pumpkins following the skit. Before the residents got to sink their teeth into a mouth-watering pumpkin cake Theda Klemm made for snack, they participated in an apple-tasting contest. They tasted five different kinds of apple slices (Fuji, Gala, Honey Crisp, Golden Delicious and Pink Lady) to see which one they liked best.

Before the evening was over, all pumpkins had been painted, all bellies filled, and everyone was reminded to keep their eyes open to the sneaky ways of the devil.

Thank you for the pastoral appreciation gift you shared recently. My family and I are always grateful for the supportive community at Slate Hill. I rejoice in the opportunity to serve this congregation - as well as the current opportunity for sabbatical for learning and renewal - and I look forward to rejoining you in January!

Thank you for the Pastoral Appreciation gift! Dawn and I are honored to serve alongside of you as we seek God's calling for Slate Hill. We will put your gift to good use in the coming months.

Women of the MCC Sewing Group extend their deep appreciation and thanks for your generous support of their fall bake sale. A total of $838.00 was donated to help purchase materials to continue our ministry of making comforters for Mennonite Central Committee in addition to baby comforters for local pregnancy centers. So far this year 33 full size comforters have been made in addition to 22 baby comforters. Our God is an awesome God!

The MCC Sewing Group night is changing to the 2nd Wednesday of each month as an activity during Wednesday Night Out. Ladies, come join us after supper in the Sewing Room downstairs (Room 113) to see how you can help!

Dear BBQ Committee Members,

I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the $500 from the proceeds of the Chicken BBQ that has been granted for Camp Hebron scholarships. Although this request would not normally be supported by their funds, I am so thankful that the funds were available and this request was considered and funded. Thank you again for your acceptance in helping those who wish to attend programs at Camp Hebron. Many people, especially our children and youth, have been blessed because of going to camp.

In deepest appreciation,
Kathy Krug

Dear Slate Hill Family,

Ray and I are most grateful for your loving support and financial assistance of Eliezer Mwankenja's tuition needs - both through the BBQ funds as well as your private donations through St. Paul's Lutheran Church. May God bless you with the satisfaction and joy in knowing you are helping educate an international student whom otherwise would not have the same educational experience to impact his town and country upon graduation and returning to Tanzania. To God be the glory!

Fran and Ray Leiter

Help Imported from Texas for BBQ

Many Slate Hillers worked at the September 9th Chicken BBQ but two volunteers traveled far and wide to lend a helping hand. Glenna and Marty Sollenberger, former Slate Hillers who are now in ministry for Wycliffe Bible Translators, came all the way from TEXAS to give of their time Friday and Saturday nights. Glenna was impressed with the efficiency and organization of the BBQ and sent Ulli Klemm this email message:

"Thanks for all the hard work invested by the church with the Chicken BBQ. It was neat to be a part of it. It was so well organized and everything. We were really impressed by the whole thing. Still can't believe we sold over 700 Chicken BBQ dinners in just over an hour! I tried to keep track of how many take-home dinners vs. just chicken halves were sold, but in all the chaos I lost count. So glad we got to be a part of this great event. We love how the funds are used to help so many ministries and mission organizations. Thanks again to all who help keep it organized and running smoothly. No wonder Slate Hill's Chicken BBQ sales are so famous!"

God bless,
Glenna

Bringing God's Word to the Nations October 2017

the latest from Marty & Glenna Sollenberger

"Jesus is one of us. He can talk direct."

- Rev. Bennett Marona, South Sudan

What would you do if your people didn't have God's Word in their language? "Our people have been longing for the Word of God in our language" Rev. Bennett Marona

"Some pastors, though they read English, they cannot even interpret what exactly does this passage mean to their congregation," Pho'dunze Martin Eliya, Translator Baka New Testament.

"I want to make my community to know God. I want them to hear God's voice with their own ears. Bringing the word of God to my people is more important to me than all other things." Rev. Bennett Marona.

Translator Kirk Parker and Rev. Bennett Marona at the Baka New Testament Dedication

Rev. Bennett Marona has worked faithfully for years to translate the New Testament into Baka. When civil war broke out in southern Sudan (now South Sudan), he and his family had to flee to refugee camps in Zaire (now Democratic Republic of the Congo).

Rev. Bennett continued the translation work in the refugee camp, along with a multinational team of translation and literacy consultants. Finally after seven years, Rev. Bennett and his family prepared to return to South Sudan, but violence broke out in Congo, and Rev. Bennett was arrested. Amazingly, the soldiers who were going to kill him had a change of heart. Instead of killing him, they traveled with him to South Sudan to keep him safe on the way!

Thanks to the dedication of Rev. Bennett Maroni, the Baka New Testament is one of the 23 newly-translated Scriptures at Wycliffe's 75th Anniversary and Scripture Celebration at Wycliffe's U.S. headquarters on Friday, September 29, 2017.

This month (October) Wycliffe is hosting a Bible Translation Conference in Dallas, TX. Over 500 Bible translators from around the world will be meeting together, including national translators like Rev. Bennett Marona. It is a real joy to serve these visitors through computer/technical support and library services. May God use this conference to speed the work of Bible translation so that people like the Baka can say, in the words of Rev. Bennett, "God is not a foreigner anymore. Jesus is one of us. He can talk direct."

Myers Host College Students for Applesauce Making

On a beautiful fall afternoon Roger and Holly Myers hosted eight participants from the College and Career Sunday School Class at their home for applesauce making. This tradition has spanned many years and the students receiving the Myers' warm hospitality always feel welcome and loved.

Some students cored and sliced three different varieties of apples while others churned the steamed apples into mouth-watering applesauce. During "down time," students hung out, feasted on fresh salsa and snacks, and played cards. Roger and Holly insisted that each student take a container or two of applesauce home with them in addition to some pumpkin cake. Thank you, Holly and Roger for sharing Christ's love in such a beautiful and delicious way!

Slate Hill Walkers Raise $1,000 to Address Hunger

Theda Klemm, Theresa Dixon, Brian
Williams and Lonie Witmer.

"If it's about helping the hungry," stated walker Theresa Dixon, "then I'm doing it!" Theresa, a resident from Cumberland Vista, even practiced walking laps to be sure she was ready for the walk.

Theresa was joined by 19 others from Slate Hill who ran or walked the 5K (3 miles) distance as part of the Mechanicsburg CROP Walk. Slate Hillers were not the only ones who walked. They were joined by about 100 others from area churches.

"The weather was just perfect," noted Ulli Klemm, who coordinated Slate Hill's efforts, "I was touched by the number of Slate Hill members that reached out to me asking who they could sponsor for the walk."

Theda Klemm was overwhelmed by the hospitality of the Lutheran Church on Keller Street in Mechanicsburg. "It was amazing!" The church provided crockpots filled with soups, hot dogs, hamburgers and a table of desserts to the "famished" walkers following the event.

Special thanks to donors who sponsored walkers with gifts from $5 to $100. And special thanks to all the walkers and runners: Theresa Dixon, David Hiebert, Ulli and Theda Klemm, Carl and Mabel Lehman, Melinda, Kevin, Reuben and Phoebe McGrath, Paul and Nancy Nisly, Will Reeder, Daniel Rider, Ron and Rhoda Hershey, Brian Williams, Lonie Witmer, David, Valerie, Isaiah and Henry Weaver Zercher.

Twenty Slate Hill volunteers recycled paper from discarded books and baled clothing at the Mennonite Central Committee's Material Resources Center in Ephrata, Pa. on Columbus Day (October 9).

Sixteen of the workers relaxed as Paul Zimmerman drove the church bus to and from Ephrata. As usual, the group stopped at Weaver's Nut store on the way home.

First timers on this day of service were Ethan Hamilton, Thomas Issoufou and Kaidyn Riggelman. If you were unable to go this time, please join the group on Presidents Day in February 2018.
