Bringing God's Word to the Nations

The latest from Marty and Glenna Sollenberger

SPRING 2018

Dear Partners, Friends, and Family:

How many Bibles do you have? Our bookshelf contains at least 10 different English versions, plus Spanish, Portuguese, and Pennsylvania Dutch. Now imagine life without a Bible. What if the Bible only existed in languages we don't understand? Or what if it is in a language we partially understand, but it's not OUR language — the language that speaks to our hearts? Wycliffe Bible Translators is working to make Scripture available to ALL people in their heart language, the language they understand best. Our goal is to bring an end to Bible poverty within the next generation.

This spring we will be sharing the vision with churches, current partners, and potential partners near Harrisburg, PA. If you are in the area, we would love to visit with you. You can get in touch with us by phone or text at 972-849-8796 or via email at glenna_sollenberger@sil.org.

Highlights of our schedule include:

March 21-23: travel to Mechanicsburg, PA

March 25: Delaware Mennonite Church, Thompsonstown, PA

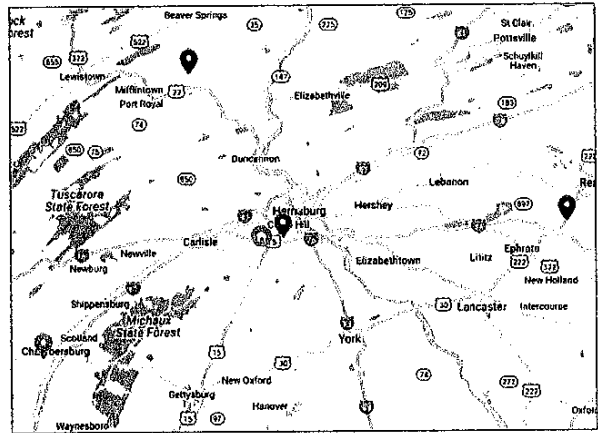

April 6-7: Mennonite Central Committee Relief Sale, Harrisburg, PA

April 8: Gehman Mennonite Church, Adamstown, PA

April 15: Pleasant View Mennonite Church, Chambersburg, PA

April 21: Chicken BBQ Sale, Slate Hill Mennonite Church, Camp Hill, PA

April 24-26: travel to Dallas, TX

Please pray that God will:

- Keep us healthy and safe as we travel
- Speak through us as we share about the ministry of Bible Translation
- Provide new prayer and financial partners for our ministry with Wycliffe Bible Translators
- Spread His Word to the Bibleless peoples around the world

Praise:

- God has provided two new partner churches in the last few months, one in Dallas, and one in PA.
- Last month we shared at Glenna's home church, First Church of the Nazarene in Lake Charles, LA. What a blessing to be with them again!

Thank you so much for your prayers for us and our ministry with Wycliffe Bible Translators! You are making a difference through your prayers and financial partnership.

The PA Relief Sale ... April 6-7

Save a few hours this weekend to explore the sights, sounds, foods, and many talent projects on sale to raise funds to support the mission outreach effort of the Mennonite Central Committee. Our Lao brothers and sisters will be operating an Asian food stand and donating the profits to MCC. Other Slate Hill volunteers have been solicited to support the Ten Thousand Villages stand and yet others will work at the Quilter's Attic. Volunteers are provided with a thank-you free parking pass for the weekend.

The popular quilt auction draws hundreds of interested persons from many neighboring states in addition to the Slate Hill following. The annual event raised $450,000 last year! The Relief Sale began in 1957 and has raised over $16,000,000 through the years. To God be the Glory!

Hilltop Fun Fest 2018

Mark your calendars! Saturday, June 2, 2018 from 4:00pm-8:00pm, Slate Hill will once again be hosting Hilltop Fun Fest! Please plan to join us as we build and strengthen relationships by sharing the extravagant love of Christ with our community. Just like in the past, we hope to have fun...and lots of it!...Living our Faith!

To help us spiritually prepare for HFF, Lee Roland will be coordinating a Prayer Meeting each Wednesday morning at 7am in the Conference Room at Slate Hill. If you are unable to attend the prayer meetings, we invite you to share in prayer and commit to pray from home, work, school, or wherever the Lord places you each Wednesday morning. Also this year, on Sunday, May 6 we will have a special evening of Worship and Prayer at Slate Hill devoted to HFF.

Another helpful way to prepare for HFF would be to fulfill an open Coordinator Position. Many Slate Hillers have already volunteered to help serve as coordinators, but more volunteers are still needed to fill these special roles and tasks. Contact Megan Myers or Joy Fasick for more information regarding open Coordinator Roles.

Other volunteers for HFF will be given the opportunity to sign up via timetosignup.com. More information regarding volunteer signups will be available in May. While we are blessed to have so many Slate Hillers helping out with HFF, volunteers are needed well beyond our Slate Hill family! If you or someone you know has connections to a civic organization, church, or other community-minded group that may be interested in volunteering or providing support for HFF, please contact Megan Myers. All Slate Hillers are encouraged to invite friends and family to join the fun by volunteering for HFF.

New to HFF this year, we'll welcome Forrest Davis, a professional Christian juggler who will be performing for the ending program. Also new this year, guests can enjoy a game of Bingo in addition to all the other activities available. Stay tuned for more exciting events to unfold!

Finally, let's extend a big THANK YOU to the HFF Core Leadership Team! They are Roger Myers, Rod Petersheim, Matt Bergey, Megan Myers, Damaris Gehman, Michaelah Gehman and Joy Fasick.

NOW OPEN!!!!

Camp Hebron's 6th Annual Boots and Blue Jeans Auction is now open at:

<https://www.biddingforgood.com/auction/item/browse.action?auctionId=281733323&grouping=FEATURED>

Camp Hebron is auctioning off hundreds of fun and unique items to raise money specifically for the horse program. You can participate from the comfort of your internet connection or attend in person for the fun evening of food, music, a silent auction and, of course, the entertaining live auction. As of this writing, there are over 400 items up for bid in about 25 different categories including cruises, sporting events, golf and sports gear, family activities, quilting and sewing supplies, jewelry, health & fitness, groceries, and much more! Go to the above website to check out the many options and help support our church camp horse program. Several Slate Hill families faithfully attend this annual event and they extend an invitation to you to join them - you are sure to enjoy the evening! If you would like to donate something toward the auction, click on the gift box item at the lower left hand corner of the above webpage or call the camp at 717-896-3441. They would love to add your item to the growing list of unique items to help fund their program.

The horse program has been part of camp since the beginning (1957) and continues to grow and change with the times. In order for Camp Hebron to keep their programs affordable so kids can experience the healing effect of animals, they must do a yearly fundraiser. 100% of the money raised goes to the horse program. These monies help with horse purchases; care of horses, facility and equipment; and keeping reduced fees for special programs. Camp Hebron is particularly proud of their programs for at risk youth and those with physical and mental challenges. There are trail rides, school group programs, summer camping programs, special need programs and lessons. Everybody leaves smiling and feeling a bit of freedom, accomplishment, connection, confidence and hope. Animals are amazing. They listen without judging; they show forgiveness for bad choices; and they teach patience, trust and friendship. Read about Matthew, a special horse who brought national recognition to Camp Hebron by winning the Certified Horsemanship Association Awards Stone School Horse of the Year Award! The interesting article can be found at:

<http://www.camphebron.org/happenings/2017/12/matthew-is-stone-school-horse-of-the-year>.

In fact, if you haven't browsed the Camp Hebron website in a while, take a fresh look at it. Our church camp is quite special and affects the lives of many who traverse the woods to find it. Your support will touch many lives!

Super-duper
THANK YOU!!

A Super-Duper salad bar fund raiser was held at the church on Sunday, March 18, 2018. It may have been the most plentiful and varied salad bar ever seen in these parts!

The funds raised will help pay the tuition costs for Eliezer Mwankenja to attend Messiah College in the fall semester of the 2018-2019 academic year. Praise be to God, the amount raised thus far is $3915! We are about halfway to the goal for the fall semester ($9,000) and we have high confidence in meeting the goal as several people have promised additional funds in the near future and more funding sources will be explored.

Eliezer only has one more year to go after the current semester to complete his bachelor's degree studies and anticipates graduating in May 2019.

The following is a dialog between Ulli Klemm and Myrna Eshleman about the event.

"WOW, you pulled out all the stoppers and then some more both in preparation for and the day of Sundays Soup and Salad Extravaganza. That was phenomenal. My only regret was that the event didn't last all week, as I had so many more soups, salads and desserts to try - let alone to sit at the beautifully decorated tables.

I know you each poured your hearts of love into this fundraiser. Thank you so very much, from start to finish!"

-Ulli Klemm

Thanks, Ulli, for your very thoughtful, kind words. It was a labor of love for Eliezer.

We had a sign-up sheet for food contributions, but there were a number of lines unfilled. So Ray and Fran and Ken and I put our shoulders to the wheel. We planned and shopped and cooked our hearts out - producing five loaves and two small fish.

But Sunday morning the food began to come - first a trickle and then a tsunami. There was so much food we hardly knew where to put it. And when it was over, and everyone had eaten their fill, we collected 12 baskets full left over.

God is Good! We are all part of Eliezer's American village.

"And everyone said 'Amen, Amen. And everyone said AMEN!"

Thanks to each and every one who played a role in making the Super-duper Soup and Salad Bar fundraiser so successful - it couldn't have been done without YOU!

Hittin' the Books!

As many of you know, I am currently working toward a master's degree in counseling on the Marriage, Couple, and Family Counseling (MCFC) Track at Messiah College. The church board has chosen to provide funding towards my graduate credits. Since YOU are part of that equation, I use Hilltop articles like this to keep you informed of my progress. I confess that it has been a while since my last article. Despite being back from sabbatical for a few months now, time has flown by so quickly that I've not written any new updates. Here is an attempt at catching up!

This semester I'm continuing my internship placement at Messiah College's Engle Center for Counseling and Health Services. The facility is a full-service health center with nurses and a certified nurse practitioner, offering everything from sick and injury care to medication management, diagnostic services, physicals, immunizations, and allergy shots. We also have a registered dietitian who works with students learning to accommodate food allergies while eating on campus, seeking help for disordered eating, or trying to set and achieve nutrition goals. A true blessing of counseling at Engle has been the close connection between counselors and medical staff. I see daily the benefit that comes from collaborative care.

The counseling side of the building includes six full-time, one part-time, and three intern counselors. As you may have heard, the need for mental health services is rising rapidly in the United States and colleges and universities are on the front lines of this surge. Engle is a busy place! As an intern counselor, it has been wonderful to work in such a supportive environment, learning from professionals who specialize in drug and alcohol counseling, treating eating disorders, sexual addictions, cultural challenges, and more.

I work at Engle on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays, logging an average of 20-24 hours per week. Most of my time there is spent counseling individual students. In addition, since last fall another intern and I have partnered together to create and run an Anxiety Management Group, a five-week skill-building group that loops continuously to provide a ready resource to students experiencing anxiety. We shared a few of the techniques from this group with employees at the March Employee Wellness Workshop and are working with others on campus to create ways to make this group even more widely available next year. Recently, I've joined with another intern to begin a new group for students who experience social anxiety. This is an eight-week closed group (all students join at the same time; the group membership "closes" after the first session) based on a project I wrote for my internship class. A group for people who don't like being in groups is a bit of a risk, but it has been well-received and the members are already citing benefits from the learning and sharing that occurs in this context.

The design of the group for students with social anxiety was but one of many projects in my internship class. There was a bit of "syllabus shock" for me last December when I realized that this final semester included even more projects and papers than the previous one! While I continue to be thankful for all I am learning, the journey has been quite long enough. I look forward to May 12, when I will work only one job and no longer live under the burden of textbooks, papers, and course assignments. The opportunity to spend more time with my family - who has been abundantly patient but is also feeling quite "done" - will certainly be welcome!!

I'm also looking forward to transitioning to full-time work here at Slate Hill. My time at the Engle Center has been fruitful and educational and my learning there will enhance my work here. But I treasure the variety that comes with pastoral work! It will be a joy to be able to engage in it more fully - with fewer outside demands and greater flexibility.

Thank you for your support during this busy season. Please continue to pray for my family as we navigate the home stretch!

Neighbors with Special Needs Embraced at 2018 Spring Fling

Within three days of the announcement being sent to former Spring Fling participants telling them they could register for the March 3, 2018 Spring Fling, slots were filled! By days' end, wonderful memories were carved in the hearts of the 60 adults with special needs and 30 care takers who attended the event.

The Spring Fling, which has taken place in one form or another since 2009, has become one of the highlights of the year for neighbors with special needs. Travelling from as far as Shippensburg, Ellittsburg, Chambersburg, Hanover and Carlisle and points in between, families, group homes and individuals with special needs converged on our hill for a day of fun, food and fellowship.

Participants were embraced as friends by 44 Slate Hill volunteers who gave of their time and love. An additional 20 volunteers were recruited by Ulli Klemm through his place of work and the gym he frequents. Volunteers helped guests with carnival games; painted the coolest designs on faces and arms; served lunch; tracked folks down for shoulder massages; pushed wheelchairs; played live music; decorated tables; and took tons of pictures. Pictures were sent to guests and volunteers after the event.

One family commented: "Matthew, Sardia and Jadzia had such a great time at the Spring Fling. Thank you so much. It was so well organized with so many fun things to do. Thank you also for the pictures that will be great reminders of that fun day. Special thanks to Dale Weaver for being such a helpful guide since it was our first time there. All your volunteers did a great job too. Again, our heartfelt appreciation for making it a special day for everyone." Phil and Blanche Drumheiser.

A parent of one guest also commented: "I just want to thank the members of the church for putting on such a wonderful program for everyone at the Spring Fling. My daughter Laura and I were blessed to be able to be there and enjoy the day. Thank you so much for all of the effort and thoughtfulness that goes into making the day a success. Be blessed!" Craig Bachik.

The Spring Fling was funded by individual contributions from members of Slate Hill and other friends who heard about the church's efforts to embrace those with special needs and were moved to contribute. Total cost for the event was $1,580. There are no budgeted funds to support the Spring Fling or the ministry and events Slate Hill does with the residents of Cumberland Vista. Anyone who would like to support Slate Hill's investment to those with special needs may designate giving to Cumberland Vista Checking Account (#4824-108).

Stewardship University 2018

Six Slate Hillers enjoyed an inspiring day at Stewardship University on Saturday, March 3. All had our understandings of “stewardship” expanded as we delved into issues of poverty, racism, substance abuse, planned giving, long-term health care and many others. For those who like to plan ahead...the date for 2019 is Saturday, March 2.

Several personal reflections:

Ruth Ritchie:

Upon hearing about Stewardship University, I was intrigued mainly because I wanted to see how this was discussed outside a sermon environment and in a "conference" and professional environment, and the name "Stewardship University" sounded serious. Being able to attend sessions directly related to my own life status right now made it feel customized to me. I enjoyed hearing about how one's business/career is a Godly calling in one's life and how to approach that with a ministry mindset, especially in the monotony of everyday business life.

Another point made during one of the sessions I attended was recognizing that stewardship of your finances during times of uncertainty can mean, more often than not, being proactive so that you can make decisions soundly and not out of a reaction to the volatility of the markets or life's circumstances.

Ben Fredrick:

What does wise Christian stewarding for Shalom look like? The sessions I attended really tried to address this:

The opening speaker spoke of "crucible times" which can have a refining effect but can also leave us vulnerable to losing our lives and our souls. He encouraged us to be refreshed by the same Spirit that refreshed Christ, in Sabbath rest.

5 Capitals broadened the notion of capital beyond finances to include Relational, Spiritual, Intellectual, Physical (and time) Capital.

Hidden Rules of Poverty explored the ways we are all guided by 'hidden rules', and that those in poverty grow up learning a certain set of rules that do not apply so well to the Middle Class set of rules. And the Middle Class set of rules don't always line up with the hidden rules the Wealthy live by. This was the most challenging for me. Each of these groups tends to view time, money, food, education, and destiny differently, and that can help us understand one another's behaviors and choices.

Managing Uncertainty. A lawyer and investment CEO spoke to this issue from two different Christian perspectives. Key take-aways: take a deep breath and pause when faced with anxious or uncertain times. Stock market starting to fall? Take a deep breath, pause, wait. Don't be ruled by emotions. Seek out the advice of others and experts--they have often faced similar circumstances and can provide guidance on how to make best decisions.

I am looking forward to attending next year!

Rhoda Hershey:

I love the way Stewardship University teaches us to embrace stewardship in all of life. It's about so much more than money. This became evident in the three seminars I took. Takeaways from each one touched a variety of places in my current walk with Jesus.

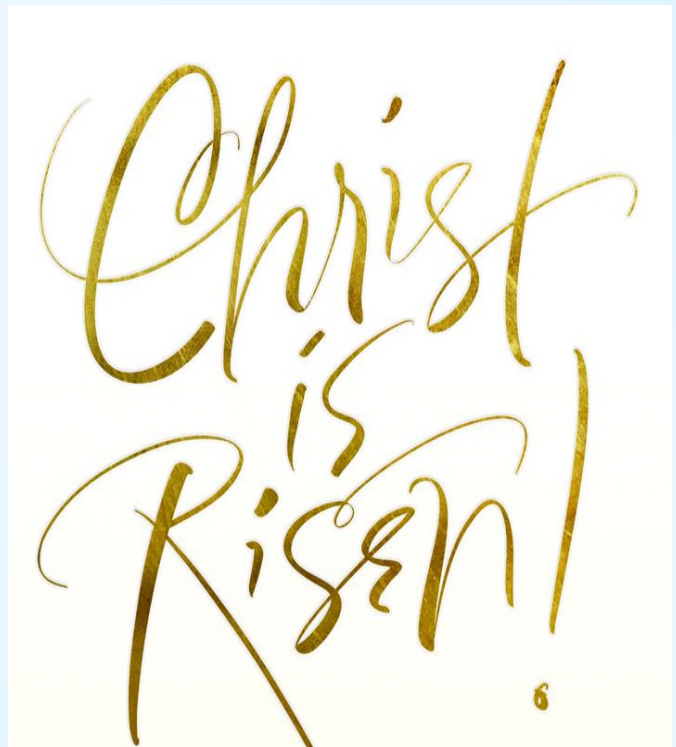

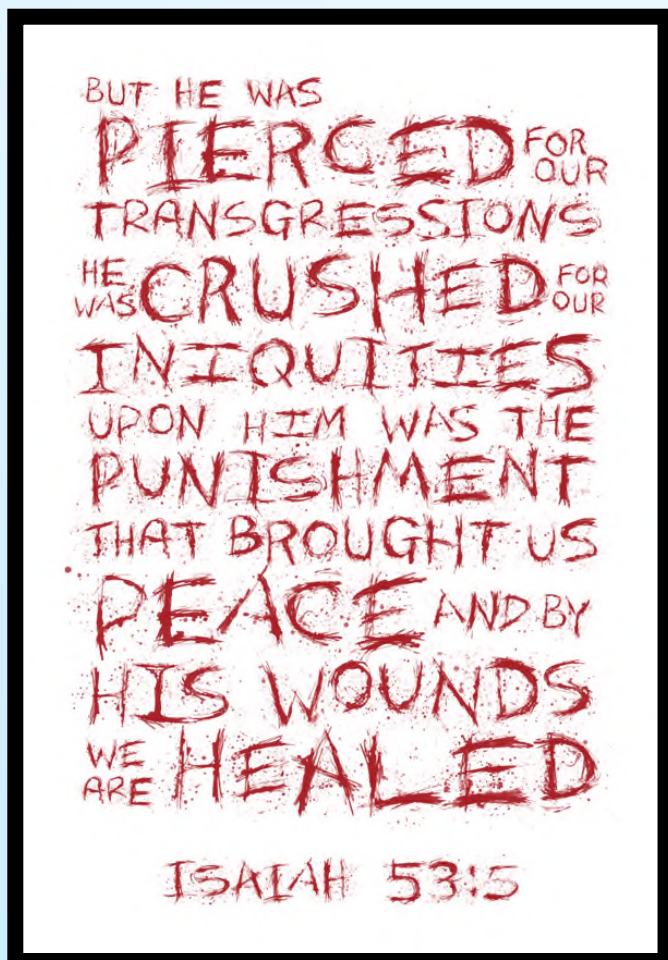

In The Human Side of Addressing Poverty I was most impacted with the reminder that "everyone's journey matters". This has framed numerous conversations and interactions in the weeks since and I suspect will continue to be the reminder I need that our God is way bigger than I often imagine.

Pursuing Radical Stewardship in Everyday Life was presented by parents of two young children who shared the creative and intentional ways they steward their time and resources. My challenge is to find new ways to tend to all God has blessed me with in ways that honor ALL His people and creation.

I attended Preparing for the Cost of Long Term Care with my dad. We learned some new information and were given clarity on more from a panel of folks from three long term care facilities, information that will be helpful in dad's imminent journey and in mine and Ron's future.

If you're looking for new ways to be stretched and challenged, Stewardship University is a good starting point. Join in the day of learning next year!
