Greetings Brothers and Sisters! If you have been following the progress of Hilltop FunFest, you may have noticed the name of the game has been "PREPARATION"! We are so grateful for those who have joined us in prayer on Wednesday mornings at 8AM, and for all others who have helped prepare for HFF 2018. Much groundwork has been underway for the past few months; but, now it's time to shift gears...it's time for INVOLVEMENT! There are MANY ways for you to get involved! You might consider joining our volunteer team, where there are many opportunities to use your gifts. We are especially in need of greeters, traffic assistants, and prize room attendants. All positions between 5 - 7PM are particularly critical and you are encouraged to volunteer in one or more areas throughout the evening. You may also invite family and friends to serve alongside you. Visit www.timetosignup.com/slatehill then choose an option to register your commitment to serve in the job of your choice.

Speaking of inviting family and friends, another area we'd like to focus on is INVITATIONS! We encourage you to invite your family, friends, neighbors, and the community to Fun Fest. Flyers and business cards are still available in the lobby and are a great way to promote the event. You can also help by liking and sharing the HFF 2018 posts on Facebook.

We are in need of coolers and canopies for this large event. If you are able to loan a canopy, please sign-up at ttsu.me/hffcanopies. Loaner items are needed by Friday at 5:00PM. Please mark items with your name and pick them up after church on Sunday (June 3).

Blessings to our Volunteers, our Coordinators, our Leadership Team, and our valued guests as we put the finishing touches on HFF 2018!

A Prayer Shawl Ministry Provides Comfort, Peace, Caring

Whether they are called Prayer Shawls, Comfort Shawls, Peace Shawls, or Mantles, the Prayer Shawl tradition has returned to Slate Hill following a hiatus. Reinvigorated by Pat White who generously shares yarn from the hat project and thanks to Maxine Zook and others who just like to keep busy, there are now several shawls ready to be shared. The shawls are in the wooden cabinet outside the conference room next to the elevator. If you know of someone who would be comforted by one of these shawls, please feel free to share one.

Prayer shawls symbolize shelter, peace and spiritual sustenance. They also can be called comfort shawls or peace shawls. Many women of different church traditions make and donate hand-knitted and crocheted shawls for those in need. For example, the Church of the Brethren's Prayer Shawl ministry is a simple, universal and enduring message of caring. The creation and presentation of a prayer shawl, like all acts of generosity, enriches the giver as well as the recipient. Compassion and the love of knitting/crocheting is combined into a prayerful way of passing on love and joy. Many blessings are prayed into every shawl—both by the individual making the shawl and by the women's ministry collective, who bless the shawl before it is given to someone. Slate Hill women follow this principal also.

The shawls can be used during prayer or meditation, while undergoing medical procedures, during illness and recovery, while ministering to others, as a comfort after a loss or bereavement, or in times of stress. They can also be used for commitment or marriage ceremonies, birthing or nursing a baby, or as graduation, birthday, anniversary or holiday gifts.

If you are interested in learning how to make a prayer shawl, either by crocheting or on a loom, see Pat White or Maxine Zook. Shawls are made from yarn Pat collects from many sources and donations.

Slate Hill Volunteers Needed to Staff Carnival Games at Life Time Adult Day Care Friday, July 6, 2018, 9:30-11:30AM

Slate Hill Mennonite has been asked by CPARC to facilitate carnival games (many of which are used for the Spring Fling) for the adults who frequent the Life Time Adult Day Care off the Carlisle Pike in Mechanicsburg on Friday, July 6, 2018 from 9:30-11:30AM. Life Time clients remember Slate Hill from our Christmas caroling there last year and they welcome Ulli Klemm who volunteers there one afternoon each month. About 15 volunteers are needed to help staff games for the carnival. Please consider lending a hand. Kids are welcome to volunteer and will do just fine.

Many of the clients frequenting this daycare have mild special needs and some are just frail and older. But all are very lovable and delight in visitors. Show up by 9:30 ready to stir up some fun and excitement for the clients. Ulli will have the games ready ahead of time. Upon arrival, pick a game you would like to monitor and enthusiastically invite folks to play a round. Applaud their efforts and give them a sticker. It's that simple!

Let Ulli know if you can help and if you can bring willing friends to assist as well.

Life Time Adult Day Care is located at 3 Crossgate Drive, Mechanicsburg PA 17050. Crossgate Drive is a small road that sits between Denny's and T-Mobile on the Carlisle Pike. Drive behind Denny's then to the back of the large National Recovery Agency (NRA) office building. The day care is located on the first floor with an entrance to the right.

Bringing God's Word to the Nations

The latest from Marty and Glenna Sollenberger

MAY 2018

Dear Partners, Friends, and Family:

THANK YOU SO MUCH for your prayers for us during our Partnership Development trip! God answered in some amazing ways. Remember the Nor'easter snow storms in March? As we traveled to Pennsylvania, it snowed the day before and the day after on our route, yet we had good weather all the way. And thank you for praying for Marty's health. His sleep issues did not interfere with any of our scheduled activities, another great answer to prayer!

We shared about our Wycliffe ministry at four new churches and connected with two more churches while we were in Pennsylvania. Please pray with us that some of these contacts will become financial partners in our Wycliffe ministry.

We celebrated Easter Sunrise Service at this cemetery next to Marty's home church where some of our friends and family are buried. Being in the cemetery reminded me of the women who went to Christ's tomb, only to discover he had risen from the dead (Luke 24). It brought new meaning to Christ's death and resurrection.

Please pray for the 180 million Bibleless people who have never heard this story because Luke hasn't yet been translated into their language.

Translation update:

On April 19, Wycliffe celebrated newly-published Scripture in 27 languages, including three whole Bibles and 12 New Testaments. You can watch the hour-long celebration at www.wycliffe.org/celebrate.

A few of the 27 newly-published Scriptures. 3.6 million people in 12 countries now have access to God's Word in their own language.

A Sending Celebration: EMM worker commissioning for

Marty and Glenna Sollenberger

(Marty and Glenna have a dual affiliation - they serve both EMM and Wycliffe Bible Translators )

Date: Sunday, July 8, 2018, 6:30PM

Location: The Oakwood Chapel at Black Rock Retreat

Address: 1345 Kirkwood Pk,
Quarryville, PA 17566

A missionary never serves alone. Through prayer, finances, and friendship, a sending and supporting community is always part of the journey. You have been a valued part of our sending community, and we want to thank you for standing with us as we prepare to take the gospel to places in need of Jesus' hope.

On July 8 we will be commissioned to serve as missionaries with EMM. Since you have helped make this possible, we would like to invite you to the commissioning service. It will be a special time for supporters to gather around new and reappointed missionaries in prayer and watch them take this important final step before they are sent.

Randy Friesen, the executive director of MB Mission, will serve as the speaker, drawing on almost 30 years of experience directing short-term and long-term mission programs. The service will also include worker testimonies. Afterwards, stay to chat and say goodbyes over ice cream! Child care is not available, but children are welcome.

You can find more details at emm.org/commissioning. Whether or not you are able to come to the commissioning service, please know how deeply your ongoing fellowship and support are appreciated.

Slate Hill's Sewing Circle Celebrates 100 years!

(Part 1 of 3 by Ulli Klemm)

This year, the Slate Hill Sewing Circle celebrates its 100th year anniversary. According to Joseph M. Hess, author of Harvest on the Hill, the first Mennonite Sewing Circle of Mechanicsburg was organized on June 27, 1918. At the planning meeting it was decided members would meet every two weeks on Thursday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock. It was also decided "each member would pay what they were able to give, but it shall not be less than ten cents a month." Church records indicate the first Sewing Circle meeting convened on July 4, 1918 with twelve workers present. They initially met in a rented room in Mechanicsburg at a cost of $3 per month.

In its first year of operation, there were 43 members. The group was comprised of women from the congregations of Slate Hill and Churchtown Mennonite. On average, 17 women came to each gathering. "Each session opened with a Scripture reading and prayer and closed with a recitation of the Lord's Prayer," noted Hess.

In the 1940's, Pauline Strong (sister-in-law of Florence Detweiler), organized the Junior Sewing Circle (later called the Willing Workers). The goal for this group of younger sisters was to learn sewing skills. They met in Mrs. Strong's home the first Tuesday of each month.

The Sewing Circle's mission was to help war refugees, orphans in India, and to assist newly opened city missions of the Mennonite Church by sewing garments, quilts and comforters. The ministry created an opportunity for interaction of farming wives from each church and provided a great way to welcome women new to the church. Also, annual Christmas parties sponsored by the Sewing Circle fulfilled an important social need. Due to the Sewing Circle's important missional work, the president of the Sewing Circle served on the church council for many years.

Rosalie Hess Roland's grandmother, Fannie Hess, her mother, Ruth F. Hess and her aunts, Sarah and Anna Zimmerman were all involved in Sewing Circle. "My grandmother always had a quilt she was working on in her living room" remembers Rosalie. "As a young girl, Esther Weaver taught us to knit and crochet," continued Rosalie. "We had sewing machines in the basement for our use. In addition to knotted comforters, Christmas Bundles for little children were a major project and there was always a quilt in a frame ready to be worked on."

Maxine (Hartzler) Zook, who joined the Sewing Circle in the 1940's and served as Secretary for several years recalls making layettes, baby blankets, comforters and quilts. "We put bundles together. Each bundle contained socks, a comb, a bar of soap, a small toy, a shirt and pants (for boys) or a dress (for girls)." These items were wrapped in a towel and brought to Mennonite Central Committee (MCC). During World War II, Maxine, along with Ruth Hertzler and others cut white sheets into strips and rolled them tightly for bandages. They were given to MCC and sent to hospitals in Europe who cared for wounded war casualties. "The Sewing Circle collected offerings to purchase materials as well as to send flowers to those in the church who were sick," remembers Maxine. "Each meeting began with prayer and a devotional. Sewing machines were used to sew patches," recalls Maxine.

In the 1950's, the Sewing Circle met in the newly remodeled church basement. It met the first Tuesday of each month from 7:00-9:00PM. "We took up whole basement - what is now the blue room," commented Julie Quickel, whose mother, Ruth Hertzler provided key leadership to the Sewing Circle. "When my mother came to Slate Hill in the late 1940's," noted Julie, "she became immersed in the Sewing Circle. All I remember was that for my mother, going to Sewing Circle was a given. It was like going to church." At that time, at the end of each two-hour session, the Sewing Circle president facilitated a short business meeting. In addition to reviewing activities and the financial well-being of the group, members took turns offering a musical selection or reading a poem or story which promoted the themes of nature and motherhood. Birthdays were also celebrated. Roughly 30 - 40 persons attended each month.

Esther Rudolf Weaver, from Churchtown Mennonite Church, was part of the Sewing Circle when she and her husband, Chester C. Weaver Sr., attended Slate Hill from 1952-1965. Esther, who recalls serving as the Vice President of this group for a year or two, remembers making comforter tops and sewing shirts. "I was part of the group because it was fun," noted Esther.

SEWING IN THE BIBLE

Work Day at Camp Hebron

It was a beautiful and warm Saturday morning in April, when nine Slate Hillers journeyed over Peter's Mountain to spend the morning volunteering at Camp Hebron. This annual spring work day is always a pleasure as the work duties are never ending and the appreciation from staff is especially gracious. Our group quickly divided into 2 groups...the electricians and everyone else! Dwayne Gish and Paul Zimmerman mastered an electrical task with ease, but since I failed to get the details on the electrical work they performed, you'll have to ask them for the scoop! The rest of us were to be loggers for the morning.

With chain saws, lawn tools, gloves and a dump truck, we headed to the campground which, according to our supervisor, had more fallen trees (and ones to be felled) than we could handle during one morning! Is that a challenge or what? Ernie Hartzler and Rich Miner excelled in operating the chain saws - cutting up logs for firewood to be stacked and brush to be trucked off for chipping at a later time. As we meandered around the campground looking for downed trees and pink-ribboned designated trees to be taken down, our bodies increasingly felt the effects of these new work routines. (Just speaking for myself, the one with the cushy office job!)

The morning quickly ended after a fulfilling combination of work and banter. Certainly, a highlight was working side-by-side with church friends, both old and new. But before we could travel back over the mountain, we were fed a satisfying meal supplied by camp staff. I think it's accurate to state that we all were reminded again of the gem of a camp we have in our back yard...a retreat to connect with God, with others and ourselves. Thanks to all for making it a great day!
